

Ben Lavender

"I strongly believe that sustainable business is about always putting client needs and requirements first."

Hi, I'm Ben. I've been with Westpac as an Investment Adviser since 2009 and have spent over four years working in various other roles within the banking industry.

I am committed to furthering my education and I am currently completing a Diploma in Business Studies through Massey University. I have also completed a Bachelor of Commerce degree.

Most of my spare time is spent enjoying time with my young son and my wife. My other interests include many outdoors sports and my current goal is to learn to sail.

I'd like to meet with you, to give me a chance to listen to what you want out of your investments and allow me to put together a plan that can make that happen.
